- Position the four walls as shown in figure 1 with the black edge on the floor.
- Join all four corners by aligning the edges, pressing the hook and loop fasteners together, and pulling the long side-flap tight against the end of the adjoining wall, as shown in figure 2.
- Attach the flap with the loop fastener on the top of each wall to the side of each adjoining wall by wrapping them over the top and down the side (see figure 3).
- Turn the walls over so the top flap is facing down. Connect the vinyl floor to the exposed loop material that is now facing up. Make sure the pit is square. Then, turn the crash pit over and position it in the designated spot.
